CURRICULAR ASPECTS

1.1 - Curricular Planning and Implementation

1.1.1 - The Institution ensures effective curriculum delivery through a well planned and documented process

The academic plan for the year 2020-21 was prepared by the IQAC and discussed in the general staff meeting as is the usual institutional practice. This was followed by the Department level meeting of the individual departments to discuss lesson plan of individual teachers at the department level. The institution ensures that sufficient academic flexibility is included in the lesson plan in the further monthly review discussions and corrective mesures taken at the department level as well as halfyearly general meetings.

This year round classes were held completely in the online mode initially and hence teachers' monthly meetings were conducted on Google meet. The teachers were assigned online classes as per timetable with around three onlinesessions for each class per day. It is to be noted that teachers took individual interest to see that no student was left out of the learning process due to lack of learning devices or learing materials. Teachers uploaded soft form of texts to ensure the availability of learning materials to students. The students were also mandated to join at least two MOOC courses to suppliment her/his learning.

Periodical reviews of the coverage of the syllabus and the regularity of the students is usually assessed. However, this time round the periodical assessesments were also conducted online.

As per the regualation of the affiliating university assessment is conducted in two modes; Internal Exams and External Exams. In the year 2020-2021 we cionducted two internal exams online, first one after eight weeks of online teaching and the second one at the end of the semester. Attendance was not made compulsory during this year though, ususally attendance is a significant part of the internal assessment of the student. Mark distrubution is in the proportion of 20: 80 respectively for the internal and external exams.

External semester exams, though delayed were conducted offline by the end of the semesters.

The continuous evaluation process is ensured and this time it was done online and teachers- in-charge of various classes took special care to reach out to each and every student. Those who were digitally challenged due to net connectivity problem were contacted over the phone. Teachers ensured that they were not left out of the learning process due to nonavailability of learning resources.

Teaching Plan and Teachers Dairy are maintained and this academic year teachers maintained an extensive note of each student to ensure that no student was left out. Our teacher, via telephonic conversations and explaining the syllabus content through viedo calls to students who could not attend online classes ensured that the dropout rate of students due to reasons beyong their control was minimised. There were periodic assessment of online sessions at the IQAC and HOD level meetings.

Usually students are encouraged to make use of the Library and Laboratory facilites, but this year since the physical presence of students on the campus was very minimum teacers provided pdf materials to students on their Google Classroom. The three month period when they were available on campus was made use of to familiarize them with the pracitcal applications in the Laboratory.

All the activities are documented at the department level, and also duplicated at the IQAC level to maintain a common data pool.

The groups are allotted time slots apart from regular class hours for interaction during which the advanced learners support and guide the slow learners in whichever portions they seem to struggle. Advanced learners are encouraged to conduct quiz programs and paper presentationsduring class hours so that they get encouraged to explore their areas of interest and at the same time the other students get an opportunity to become aware of the latest developments happening in different fields of the subject. 7.1.3 - Describe the facilities in the Institution for the management of the following types of degradable and non-degradable waste (within 200 words) Solid waste management Liquid waste management Biomedical waste management E-waste management Waste recycling system Hazardous chemicals and radioactive waste management

Waste generation and management is an unavoidable part of every organization's day to-day operations. Various college cells, such as NCC, NSS, and the nature club, are also committed to minimizing trash creation and the disposal and recycling of created garbage. The following are the measures addressed by college for waste materials:

By prohibiting the use of plastic materials on campus, the college is maintained as a "plastic-free zone." Separate containers for degradable/biodegradable, recyclable, and other solid garbage are placed in prominent locations in the campus. In order to reduce the amount of waste paper and plastic, the institution requires students to carry their food in lunch boxes, lowering trash output. We also employ environmentally friendly materials for decor that are reusable during the college's programmes. Another notion we have institutionalized is the paperless office. Emails are used to send circulars. Plastic and paper waste are also sold to scrap merchants for recycling rather than burned. Collaboration with the municipality for the collection of non-biodegradable garbage aids us in preventing waste accumulation. There are enough washrooms and toilets for students and workers. Drainage pipes transport water to leech pits that are adequately sealed to prevent mosquito breeding.

CURRICULAR ASPECTS

1.1 - Curricular Planning and Implementation

1.1.1 - The Institution ensures effective curriculum delivery through a well planned and documented process

The academic plan for the year 2020-21 was prepared by the IQAC and discussed in the general staff meeting as is the usual institutional practice. This was followed by the Department level meeting of the individual departments to discuss lesson plan of individual teachers at the department level. The institution ensures that sufficient academic flexibility is included in the lesson plan in the further monthly review discussions and corrective mesures taken at the department level as well as halfyearly general meetings.

This year round classes were held completely in the online mode initially and hence teachers' monthly meetings were conducted on Google meet. The teachers were assigned online classes as per timetable with around three onlinesessions for each class per day. It is to be noted that teachers took individual interest to see that no student was left out of the learning process due to lack of learning devices or learning materials. Teachers uploaded soft form of texts to ensure the availability of learning materials to students. The students were also mandated to join at least two MOOC courses to suppliment her/his learning.

Periodical reviews of the coverage of the syllabus and the regularity of the students is usually assessed. However, this time round the periodical assessesments were also conducted online.

As per the regualation of the affiliating university assessment is conducted in two modes; Internal Exams and External Exams. In the year 2020-2021 we cionducted two internal exams online, first one after eight weeks of online teaching and the second one at the end of the semester. Attendance was not made compulsory during this year though, ususally attendance is a significant part of the internal assessment of the student. Mark distrubution is in the proportion of 20: 80 respectively for the internal and external exams.

External semester exams, though delayed were conducted offline by the end of the semesters.

1.1.2 - The institution adheres to the academic calendar including for the conduct of Continuous Internal Evaluation (CIE)

The College ensures effective curriculum delivery through a well planned and transparent mechanism which takes into account the suggestions from the parents as well.

The College follows the academic calenderissued by the affiliating university and also integrates the university academic calender into the College academic calencer. The continuous evaluation process is ensured and this time it was done online and teachers- in-charge of various classes took special care to reach out to each and every student. Those who were digitally challenged due to net connectivity problem were contacted over the phone. Teachers ensured that they were not left out of the learning process due to nonavailability of learning resources.

Teaching Plan and Teachers Dairy are maintained and this academic year teachers maintained an extensive note of each student to ensure that no student was left out. Our teacher, via telephonic conversations and explaining the syllabus content through viedo calls to students who could not attend online classes ensured that the dropout rate of students due to reasons beyong their control was minimised. There were periodic assessment of online sessions at the IQAC and HOD level meetings.

Usually students are encouraged to make use of the Library and Laboratory facilites, but this year since the physical presence of students on the campus was very minimum teacers provided pdf materials to students on their Google Classroom. The three month period when they were available on campus was made use of to familiarize them with the pracitcal applications in the Laboratory.

All the activities are documented at the department level, and also duplicated at the IQAC level to maintain a common data pool.

1.3 - Curriculum Enrichment

1.3.1 - Institution integrates crosscutting issues relevant to Professional Ethics, Gender, Human Values, Environment and Sustainability into the Curriculum

Professional Ethics and Enviornmental Sustainablilty in the Curriculum: This academic year (2020-2021) we conducted two Certificate Courses in cross-cutting areas. Keep your Campus Clean initiatve was launched in association with the college NSS Unit. This course was a 30 hour theoretical traning and experiential learning program launcehd as part of instilling in the entire college community the need for keeping the college clean and plastic free. During the theory hours the particfipants and almost the entire faculty watched documentaries and movies on the hazards of plactic and toxic wastes and the need for enviornmental protection. This initiative that began in Januarry extended through February and March and went into a CollegeNSS Unit supervised drive to clean up the campus of plastic and such other toxic wastes. This drive washighly successful for the participation of the entire faculty and students from accross disciplines in the initiative. the College NSS Unit also set up waste bins for segregated waste collection throughout the campus.

This is in addition to and also partly inspired by the Enviornment Sustainability course included in Semester V of the curriculum as part of allacademic progrmas under MG University. 7.1.3 - Describe the facilities in the Institution for the management of the following types of degradable and non-degradable waste (within 200 words) Solid waste management Liquid waste management Biomedical waste management E-waste management Waste recycling system Hazardous chemicals and radioactive waste management

Waste generation and management is an unavoidable part of every organization's day to-day operations. Various college cells, such as NCC, NSS, and the nature club, are also committed to minimizing trash creation and the disposal and recycling of created garbage. The following are the measures addressed by college for waste materials:

By prohibiting the use of plastic materials on campus, the college is maintained as a "plastic-free zone." Separate containers for degradable/biodegradable, recyclable, and other solid garbage are placed in prominent locations in the campus. In order to reduce the amount of waste paper and plastic, the institution requires students to carry their food in lunch boxes, lowering trash output. We also employ environmentally friendly materials for decor that are reusable during the college's programmes. Another notion we have institutionalized is the paperless office. Emails are used to send circulars. Plastic and paper waste are also sold to scrap merchants for recycling rather than burned. Collaboration with the municipality for the collection of non-biodegradable garbage aids us in preventing waste accumulation. There are enough washrooms and toilets for students and workers. Drainage pipes transport water to leech pits that are adequately sealed to prevent mosquito breeding.
